Week 1 - Bird on a Branch

Here is a simple bird on a branch for your applique fun. The whole thing is just one piece, so even though it looks a bit complex, it isn't. You can flip it over if you want a bird in the other direction, or print it larger or smaller, depending on what you want to use it for. It would look pretty on a pillow or a wall hanging.

This design would be a little difficult for needle turned work (so I'm not including a pattern with seam allowances), but it's well suited for machine applique, feltwork (which is what I originally intended it for), or even paper crafts. Use your imagination, and be sure to share on my blog what you've created with it!
